Elevators and lifts must, according to the Danish Labor Inspection Authority, have carried out statutory safety inspections. This must be done by a certified company. The frequency of statutory inspections depends on product and use.

We recommend a service contract containing both statutory inspection and maintenance as it will extend the life of the plant and minimize costs.

With a service contract with us you are ensured that your unit complies with the legal requirements and optimizes the operation. This means longer service life and lower costs.
